FOREST SERVICE LADIES DINE

GRASS VALLEY: The ladies of Tahoe National Forest personnel held their monthly dinner and bridge party Thursday, January 15th, in Bret Harte Inn.

The room, by judicious use of pine boughs, snow scenes and mirrors was transformed into a charming winter scene. Mrs. Ted Niehaus and Mrs. George Port of Grass Valley were co-hostesses.

TO GET "TOPS" IN MILK QUALITY REMEMBER TWO THINGS

(1) IT TAKES EXTRA QUALITY IN A PRODUCT TO MAKE IT A PRIZE WINNER.

(2) BRET HARTE DAIRY MILK IS THE FAMOUS PRIZE WINNING QUALITY MILK.

Here's Why—The Bret Harte Dairy has one of the most modern milk processing plants in the northern part of California. All bottling equipment, bottle washers, refrigeration units and all other machinery used are of the most modern type.

The Bret Harte Dairy surpasses the high standards set by the California State Department of Agriculture maintained through regular inspections.

All producers supplying milk to the Bret Harte Dairy are proud of their records in also surpassing these same high standards.

The Bret Harte Dairy has won 9 Gold Medal Awards—the highest award given by the State of California—also one first prize, and one second prize; all in 11 years of competition at the annual State Fair with all other dairies in California. The Bret Harte Dairy is also a Gold Medal Award winner with its cream.

Yes, it takes extra quality in a product to make it a prize winner. We are proud to be able to daily put on the market and to deliver to your door our quality product.

When you buy milk at your grocery store, ask for Bret Harte Milk.

HISTORIANS WILL GO TO COLOMA

NEVADA CITY: The Nevada County Historical Society, and the Nevada City, Grass Valley Chambers of Commerce are sponsoring a motor cavalcade to Coloma, Saturday, January the 24th.

Arrangements have been made with the Placerville Chamber of Commerce for a parking space for cars bearing a Nevada County Historical Society sticker on their windshield. Those stickers will be obtainable at the Chamber of Commerce rooms in either city, after Wednesday, January 21st. A car owner does not need to be a member of the Historical Society to ask for a sticker.

A Nevada City, Grass Valley bus has been chartered for the day, and round trip tickets may be obtained for $1.05. As the bus has a seating capacity for only 29, reservations should be made early with the Chamber of Commerce in Grass Valley and Nevada City.

The motor group will leave the Nevada City High School at 7:000 A.M. Saturday, January 24th., and the Veteran's Memorial Building in Grass Valley at 7:20 A.M.

THE - Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

(June 10, 1951)

We don't ask who he is, where he came from, or what is his religion. On the other hand, men are coming and going all the time. You may have known a man for a year, then you miss him, see a stranger at his cabin, and ask what has become of the old occupant and the answer will be, "Oh, he has made his pile and gone back to the States," or, "His claim petered out and he's off prospecting," or, "He went with the rush to Cold Bluff, or the Kern River excitement," and then you forget him. It's all a hurly-burly with nobody making plans to live here permanently. We were talking about this over at Selby Flat the other night and the crowd was unanimous in denouncing the extravagance of a project that was being agitated to build a brick courthouse at Nevada City. No matter how much gold is discovered, it cannot last always—not more than a few years at most—and when it is gone what will there be to keep up a town, or to live for, and then all of the money spent on stone buildings and courthouses will go to waste.

I don't suppose I ought to growl about it. So far as I know, the tax-collector does not bother us miners. Our log cabins are not worth taxing, our claims are exempt, and if the town people want to pay for these follies, it is their privilege. The outside towns—Grass Valley, Rough and Ready and Selby Flat—are doing some lively kicking over the courthouse scheme, and there is talk of a fight to take away the county seat from Nevada City.

Out of curiosity I rode over to see the couple who live on Round Mountain, and I made a funny discovery. If one of them is not a woman dressed in men's clothes, then I don't know a woman when I see one. The cabin is a queer sort of shanty, about thirty feet long, built into the bank so that the roof comes down even with it. There are two doors, one narrow and the other five feet wide. There is a wheelbarrow track leading out of the wide door to a dump-pile of

Pictured at the gala opening of the new building on Sunday, January 11th, are left to right: Miss Virginia Pease, Harold Hendrick (Fleischmann Co.), Charles Pease, little Rebecca Pease, Mrs. Walter Pease, Carl Meyers (Fleischmann Co.), Walter Pease, Mrs. Richard J. Pease, Richard J. Pease and Mrs. J. Pease and Mrs. Florence Silva.

The grand opening of Pease's bakery in their own new building on the Nevada City-Grass Valley highway at the Nevada City limits was attended by about 1200 people.

Walter Pease made 120 dozen doughnuts between 1-5 P.M. that afternoon, as admiring throngs flocked in and out of the building, inspecting the splendid structure and effificent new equipment.

The thirsty, hungry throng lapped up 700 cups of coffee during the afternoon as they offered congratulations to the large and hard-working Pease family.

The well-known bakery is not new to Nevada City, having been founded here 10 years ago by Walter Pease, head of the family. Pease at that time already had a world of experience in baking, having practiced his trade all over the United States.

DEEP DISH APPLE PIE WITH CHEESE PASTRY

Cheese Pastry
6 Tart apples
1 Cup sugar
1 Tsp. cinnamon
¼ Tsp. nutmeg
2 Tbs. butter or margarine

Make ½ recipe for pastry. Pare apples; core; slice. Put into baking dish. Mix sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg; sprinkle over apples. Dot with butter or margarine. Roll out pastry ⅛" thick on lightly floured board in shape to fit over baking dish; prick design in center to allow steam to escape while baking. Place on apples; trim edge; press with tines of fork. Bake in hot oven 425° F. 30 to 40 min. Serves 4 to 6.

CINNAMON CHERRY PIE

1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) pitted sour red cherries
½ Cup sugar
½ Tsp. cinnamon
⅛ Tsp. salt
2½ Tbs. quick-cooking tapioca
2 Tbs. butter or margarine
8" Baked Pastry Shell
Marshmellow Meringue

Drain cherries, reserving sirup. Mix sugar, cinnamon, salt and tapioca; add sirup. Bring to boiling point over direct heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add butter or margarine. (Mixture will be thin.) Cool, stirring occasionally. (Mixture thickens as it cools.) Add cherries; pour into pastry shell. Swirl meringue on filling. Place top of food 3" below broiler unit or tip of flame; broil 30 seconds, or until delicate brown.

CORNED BEEF

Use 4 to 9-lb. corned beef brisket, allowing ¾ lb. per person. Cover with water; bring to boiling ponit. Cover; simmer 3 to 5 hours, or until tender.

CORNED BEEF CASSEROLE

4 Cups cooked rice
2 Cups cubed cooked or canned corned beef
1 No. 2 can (or 2½ cups cooked) tomatoes
¼ Cup chopped onion
1 Tsp. salt
Few grains pepper
1 Tsp. Worcestershire sauce

Alternate layers of rice and corned beef in greased casserole. Combine tomatoes, onion, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Pour over beef mixture; cover. Bake in moderate oven 350° F. 30 min. Serves 4.

"BROILED" BEEF TONGUE

Use 2 to 4-lb. beef tongue, allowing 1/3 to ½ lb. per person. Cover with water; bring to boiling point. Cover; simmer 2 to 4 hours, or until tender. Remove skin and small bones at base of tongue. If desired, cool in stock.

Braised Tongue with Vegetable Sauce

Follow recipe for "Broiled" Beef Tongue, reserving 1 cup stock. Heat ¼ cup fat or salad oil; blend in ¼ cup flour. Add 1 cup stock and 1 can tomato soup (to condensed soup add equal amount water, using soup can to measure). Cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Add 2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce, few grains salt, 12 small carrots, 3 cups potato balls and 1 cup diced celery. Simmer 30 min. Place tongue in baking pan; add vegetable mixture. Cover; bake in hot oven 400" F. 1 hour.

CHEESE CROUTONS

¼ Lb. American cheese
¼ Cup shortening
½ Cup flour
Few grains cayenne

Grate cheese; combine with shortening. Blend in flour and cayenne. Chill until firm. Pinch off bits of dough; roll into tiny balls about size of peas. Bake in very hot oven 450° F. 5 min. Makes 50. Serve with soup.

BROWN SUGAR FUDGE LAYERS

¾ Cup shortening
1¾ Cups firmly packed brown sugar
1 Egg
3 Egg yolks
4 Squares (4 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
2¼ Cups flour
1½ Tsp. baking soda
¼ Tsp. salt
1½ Cups milk
1½ Tsp. vanilla extract

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add egg; beat well. Add egg yolks, 1 at a time, beating after each. Melt chocolate over hot water; add. Sift together flour, baking soda and salt; add alternately with milk to creamed mixture. Add vanilla extract. Pour into 2 greased 9" layer pans. Bake in moderate oven 350° F. 40 min. Cool 5 min. Remove layers from pans; cool on wire rack.

WITCH'S WEB

Prepare Brown Sugar Fudge Layers. Prepare Boiled Frosting II, substituting ½ tsp. grated orange rind for 1 tsp. vanilla extract. Tint orange with vegetable coloring. Spread between layers and on top and sides of cake. Melt ½ square (½ oz.) unsweetened chocolate over hot water. Carefully drip chocolate from tip of spoon on cake in spiral design. Mark circumference at edge of cake in eighths; draw point of knife lightly from marks to center. When frosting is partially set, if desired, place witch candle or figure in center.

MILK CHOCOLATE LAYERS

½ Cup shortening
1¼ Cups sugar
2 Eggs
2 Squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
2 Cups flour
¼ Tsp. baking soda
2½ Tsp. baking powder
1 Tsp. salt
1 Cup milk
1 Tsp. vanilla extract

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add eggs, 1 at a time, beating after each. Melt chocolate over hot water; add. Sift together flour, soda, salt and baking powder; add alternately with milk to creamed mixture. Add vanilla extract. Pour into two greased 9" layer pans. Bake in moderate oven 350° F. 35 to 40 min. Cool 5 min. Remove layers from pans; cool on wire rack.

CORN CHOWDER

3 Medium potatoes
1 Small onion
1 Cup water
¼ cup butter or margarine
1½ Cups cooked or canned whole kernel corn
4 Cups milk
Salt and pepper

Pare potatoes; dice. Grate onion. Add water and butter or margarine; simmer until tender. Add corn and milk; simmer 15 min. Season with salt and pepper. If desired, garnish with chopped chives. Serves 4 to 6.

Christian Science Society

Christian Science Society of Nevada City holds services every Sunday in their church at 114 Boulder Street at 11 o'clock.

Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday evening testimonial meetings are held on the first and third Wednesdays of each month at 8 o'clock.

Our reading room is in the church. It is open Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, holidays excepted, from 2 to 4 p.m.

The public is cordially invited to attend our services and visit the reading room.

"If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us" (I John 4:12). This is the Golden Text for the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, February 1. The subject is "Love."

The following citations are taken from the sermon:

Romans: "Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law" (13:8).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Love for God and man is the true incentive in both healing and teaching. Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way. Right motives give pinions to thought, and strength and freedom to speech and action. Love is priestess at the altar of Truth. Wait patiently for divine Love to move upon the waters of mortal mind, and form the perfect concept".

CUMMINS: In Grass Valley, Neavda Ciunty, Jan. 7, 1948, to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cummins of Colfax, Placer County, a son.

Just Wonderin'

Who dropped from my ancestral tree,
To build a little wooden raft
And paddle through the primal sea;
What devious course did he pursue--
What did he learn of pride and fame,
Before he settled down to be
My ancient grand pa with a name?

Were you ever pestered by a genealogy? I was, in my early youth. Auntie came from the east bringing with her, a verbose volume which resembled in size a Webster's unabridged. The great book seemed of vast importance to auntie and mother; they spent hours poring over its crowded pages and I was strongly advised to read it from cover to cover. I did read the preface and part of the first page, then I skipped the whole volume, pausing only long enough to gaxe curiously at my own name which adorned a single line on the very last page. Father said that genealogies and family trees were of little value and that was enough for me.

What a funny old tome that was! It came from an English press and was no whit different from thousands of similiar volumes which had been sold to gullible Americans who felt a certain pride in family and name. Invariably these old genealogies furnished one with a family crest and a castle, though just what good these relics of past greatness could do, I've never been able to figure. Of course one's family history went back to William the Conqurer, that was a forgone conclusion. The volumes were ornate-at least ours was and some folk displayed them conspicuously on the center table along with the Bible and a plush covered album. Visitors, left for a few moments to their own devices could take their choice. How many times they chose to scan the family history, deponent sayeth not.

Now, inspecting the family tree is a precarious occupation. Even when streamlined by Ringrose and Company of London, one may discover strange birds among the ancient branches and most certainly they will not prove to be of a feather. Strange birds indeed; owls and parrots, doves and vultures, sparrows and nightengales.

What's in a name? Generally nothing unless some one who bore it succeeded in making it illustrous by some worthy contribution to the welfare of humanity.

What of pride of birth? Perhaps the only real advantage of becoming familiar with family history is that one learns that his family line has been tangled with many another as it ran down through the centuries and that the blood which one affects to disdain, runs in his own aristocratic veins. In the presence of certain cold facts, tolerance is born and bigotry dies. Why should the spirit of mortal be proud? It shouldn't, for "Kind hearts are more than coronets
And simple faith than Norman blood."
—Adeline Merriam Conner

To The Patrons Of The BRET HARTE DAIRY and PEOPLE of THIS COMMUNITY

The Bret Harte Dairy believes strongly that all local industry should be supported by the people of the community. We believe that such support is especially warranted when the products produced locally are fine products. This is almost axiomatic for when local industry manufacturers or processes quality products and these products are purchased and supported locally, then everyone is the gainer.

Why is this so? It is so because the consumer dollar remains here at home. It remains to go into expansion programs, to pay salaries and wages, to buy other goods. And as each industry prospers and expands it is able to give better and continually better service and a better and continually better product. The community as a whole grows and prospers only as local industry grows and prospers.

We believe that the Bret Harte Dairy is a fine example to substantiate the above statements. We have been growing, expanding, giving better and better service, and supplying these communities for the past 21 years with what we sincerely believe to be a superior product.

See how we have grown. In 1927 the Bret Harte Dairy started with 6 cows. Now 14 producers of quality milk supply us with their product. Our Dairy now daily operates 13 trucks to supply the local market with our milk and dairy products. The Bret Harte Dairy has from 23 to 30 persons on its payroll. We have one of the finest plants equipped with the most modern dairy machinery in the northern part of California. In dollar volume the Bret Harte Dairy and its milk producers do a half-million dollar yearly business in this community. And furthermore, these dollars are spent locally. Nothing is purchased outside of this trade area that can be purchased here.

We know that the wealth created by our dairy business has added to and constantly continues to add to the wealth of everyone in these communities. Salaries paid to our empoyees go to buy homes, food, meat, clothes, radios, automobiles and for all the necessities and luxuries of living. Yes, the Bret Harte Dairy has grown and prospered. And because we have prospered, other businesses of these towns have benefitted.

The Bret Harte Dairy has grown, however, because its products have been in demand by the people of the community. You have liked our products. In return we have tried to and we believe we have succeeded in giving you high quality milk and other milk products. Also we have tried to give you the finest of service. We are on the job and deliver our milk to your door every day of the week and every week of the year.

Also, we would like to add that we strive to give the small stores the same good service as the markets that purchase and retail our milk in large quantity. Outsiders bringing their milk to this community know that a few good accounts buying milk in volume serves their purpose. The small purchaser is more often than not bypassed.

The Bret Harte Dairy makes it a cardinal rule to give the best service it can to everyone.

Yes, we believe strongly that local industry should be supported. For when local industry is not supported it ceases to grow and the community ceases to grow along with it.

Miss Lydia Groves, assistant Postmistress and telephone operator of Camptonville celebrated her birthday at a New Years Eve party. Among the guests were Mesdames M. G. Calvin, Frank M. Groves, Leonard L. Bishop, Eugene H. Hays, and Miss Mary M. Groves.

Gilbert J. Davis was installed as Worshipful Master of Nevada Lodge. Ceremonies were in charge of Inspector W. J. Merrifield assisted by Past Grand Master Geo. L. Jones as Master of Ceremonies. Other officers installed were John W. Darke, Elmer P. Gleason, Benj. Hall, Jos. E. Stenger, W. E. Meservely, W. J. Armstrong, Louis W. Kopp, Cary S. Arbogast, Meyers L. Mobley, George Pearl, Luther Marsh, and Lloyd Jennings.

Miss Ruth Murchie returned to resume her duties as teacher in the Bakersfield schools after a vacation spent with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ray Murchie of Nevada City.

Mrs. Niles P. Searles and Miss Elizabeth Kendall spent the week-end visiting with friends and relatives in Nevada City.

The Woman's Home Department of the Farm Center held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Jesse Ennors at Rough and Ready.

50 Years Ago

In Nevada City the Broad Street hill from the Plaza to the National Hotel was so icy that teams were unable to negotiate it. The mail and express wagon was having to make a detour of Main, Commercial, and Pine Streets to avoid the grade.

The first step taken under the new voting law was the selection of names by the County Supervisors from which judges for the elections held during the year would be chosen by lot. Some of the names selected from the five precincts in Grass Valley were John Hocking, J. H. Bennallack, W. J. Crase, John Glasson, Josiah J. Hosken, J. J. Hosking, William George, C. W. Kitts, John Terrill, T. Ingram, E. P. Hughes, J. F. Benoit, T. H. Berriman and O. L. Twitchell. North San Juan was represented in part by M. H. Barton, H. D. Dahneka, S. Solars, C. L. Paine, and C. H. Sooy. E. Brophy, M. Burth, F. Clyms, J. M. Hiscox, E. Pease, J. O. Sweetland and J. Trevithick were chosen from Sweetland.

The following officers of Nevada City Lodge No. 52 A. O. U. W. were installed by J. E. Isaac: S. S. Treirthick, W. E. Rice, Geo. E. Russell, John H. Ramsey, C. E. Ashburn, John F. Hook, H. Guenther, Geo. J. Osterman, G. H. McIntire and T. H. Corcoran.

A farewell game of keno with $100 in the pot was to be played in the Council Chamber in Nevada City on the eve of the enforcement of an anti-keno ordinance. The right of the city to prevent the games being played in the local bars and saloons was to be contested later in the courts.

75 Years Ago

At a regular meeting of Union Encampment I. O. O. F. held at Grass Valley the following were installed as officers: Henry V. Ivens, Frank Beatty, R. G. Roberts, S. Beverton, B. Johnson, A. Sims, J. W. Relley, John Webber, C. C. Smith, Wm. H. Benson, R. Finney, Wm. H. Buckett, I. W. Hays, Jr., and B. F. Harris.

It was announced that the Bank of Nevada County was in the future to allow interest on time deposits of money. A six months deposit was to gain interest at the rate of six per cent while a twelve month deposit would be paid at the rate of eight per cent. The Bank was also making an effort to establish itself as a Gold Note National Bank.

The Congregational Church was crowded on the occasion of the anniversary of the Sunday School belonging to that denomination. The exercises consisted of singing by the children and duets and recitations on the part of young and old alike. Mrs. Searls' class won the banner for attendance for the year.

From the Transcript, 1873: Douglas Jerrold was once asked by an intolerant bore who affected to be a poet of the Milton School whether he had read his "Descent into Hell." "No Sir," responded the irate wit, "but I should like to see it."

THE GOLD CENTENNIAL

One man, James Marshall, by his accidental discovery of gold in the tailrace of Sutters' Mill at Coloma on January24, 1848, affected the development of a continent and the course of a nation's history.

In recognition of that event, California will take time off this week to review its "century of gold." The State officially will observe the centennial in three days of ceremonies at Coloma and nearby Placerville. Elsewhere in the State, other commemorative observances will take place, notably in San Francisco, through which the Gold Rush poured.

Marshall's centennial finds California in the midst of another influx of population akin to the Gold Rush, based on the discovery by hundreds of thousands during the war that California climate and way of life is pleasing and that opportunity smiles on the Pacific Coast.

We may be sure that this discovery and the continuing "gold rush" will affect this State, the continent and the Nation during the second century as much as Marshall's ever did during the first.

COLOMA

NEVADA CITY: The Chamber of Commerce and the Business and Professional Women's Club will enter the Nevada City-Graniteville Stage Coach in the Centennial Parade at Coloma Saturday.

Use of the coach has been granted by the Native Sons of the Golden West. Earl Holbrook has donated the use of his truck to transport the old coach, housed at the Historical Society Museum, to and from Coloma.

Ed Granholm's team of horses will draw the coach in the parade.

Riding in it will be Mrs. Leo Cullen, Mrs. Charles Veale and Mrs. Isabel Hefelfinger, all of the Business and Professional Women's Club. They will wear '49er garb and toss out gilded, replica nuggets to the throng.

A sign will be on the stage coach, advertising the Fourth of July-Centennial Celebration to be staged by Nevada City and Grass Valley this year.

BIRTHS

ROBERTSON—In Grass Valley Nevada County, January 12, 1948, to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robertson, a daughter.

waste dirt and a Tom set in the ravine below, where evidently, the pay dirt is washed. I could see at once that they were tunneling into the hill from the back of the cabin, although if it had not been for the dump-pile, Long Tom and wheelbarrow track no one would have suspected that any mining was going on in the vicinity. While I was sitting on my horse taking in all this, a slight young fellow came out wheeling a barrow of dirt. He seemed startled to see me, turned his head away, dumped his dirt, pulled his hat down over his eyes and went back through the door without even saying good morning. I started to ride away when another man appeared at the door—long-whiskered, stout-built fellow who did not seem to be at all pleased at my being there—and asked me roughly what I wanted. I replied that I wanted nothing, was riding around the country, happened to come across the place, had halted a minute and that was all. He turned to go back, hesitated, then looked around and asked me to get down and hitch the horse. I was so curious that I accepted the invitation and in a few minutes we were sitting out on the dump-pile in the sun chatting away like old friends. I think he is a Western man by his accent, not that I asked any questions, not having the chance. He did the questioning, and kept me busy answering, not seeming to know anything about what was going on anywhere, neither in his own neighborhood nor abroad, and although he did not appear to be an ignorant man in a general way, he certainly lacked information on current happenings. The young fellow failed to show up, and, after an hour or so, the man excused himself for a minute—it was past noon—came back and asked me if I would not stop for dinner. I was dying to see the inside of the cabin and accepted. Well, you never saw a neater place. Twenty feet of it partitioned off. There was a broad floor, swept and clean, a curtain to the window, paper, the edges cut in scallops, on the shelves, a home-made double bed nicely made up, and pillows. The table was covered with a tablecloth made of flour sacks sewn together, but white and clean, and the crockery all washed since breakfast. I wondered what sort of finicky miners these could be, so different in their housekeeping from the rest of us, when the young fellow began to put the grub on the table. That settled it. He had his hat off, and "he" was a woman dead sure. If there had been nothing else, the cooking would have proved it; hot biscuit, fried quail with a thin strip of bacon wrapped around them, beans, of course, but not greasy beans, a fine cup of coffee, and doughnuts. Gracious! That was the first doughnut I had eaten since leaving Connecticut. He just introduced her as his partner without any explanation and I did not ask for any, although it looked funny to see a pretty, black-haired, black-eyed woman dressed up in a woolen shirt, overalls and boots. I had sense enough to keep my mouth shut on the subject and we ate our dinner as if there was nothing strange in the situation. After it was over and we had smoked our pipes, she in the meantime clearing off the table and washing the dishes, he asked me to come in and look at his mine. He had run a tunnel into the mountain from the back of his cabin and was in a hundred feet or more. He said he had stumbled on it by accident, built the cabin as I saw it, just for a notion, that it had paid and was still paying very well and he would stay with it until it was worked out. He came out with me when I got ready to go away, shook hands and asked me to ride over again, and then said that he knew that he had the reputation of being unsociable and eccentric; that maybe he was, but if I got acquainted I would find out he was not a bad sort; that while it seemed as if there was a mystery there really wasn't, and there was not much to tell. If I made him another visit he would explain, not because he had to, but that he could understand how it looked queer to an outsider. Then he got sort of gruff and said it was nobody's business but his own, and I rode away. Pard and I talked it over and we agreed that the woman was without doubt his wife, who preferred to live with her husband in this way rather than be separated. If they wanted to lead hermit lives they had the right. Really, the only strange part of it is her dressing in men's clothes and working in the mine. I would not let any wife of mine do that sort of thing.
